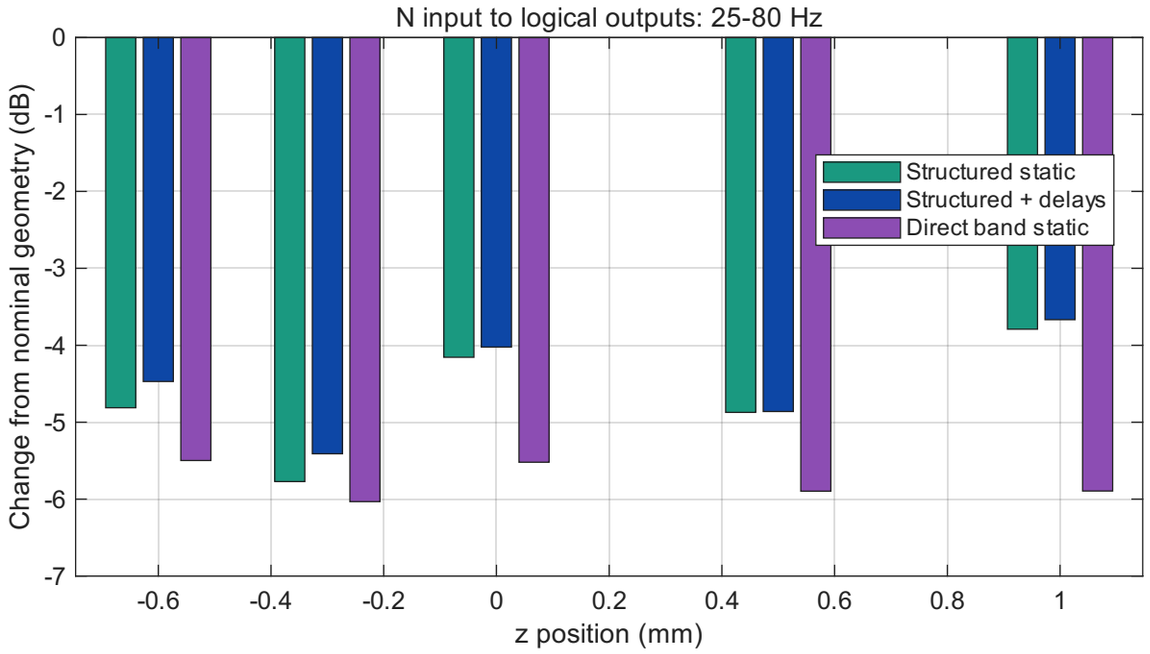
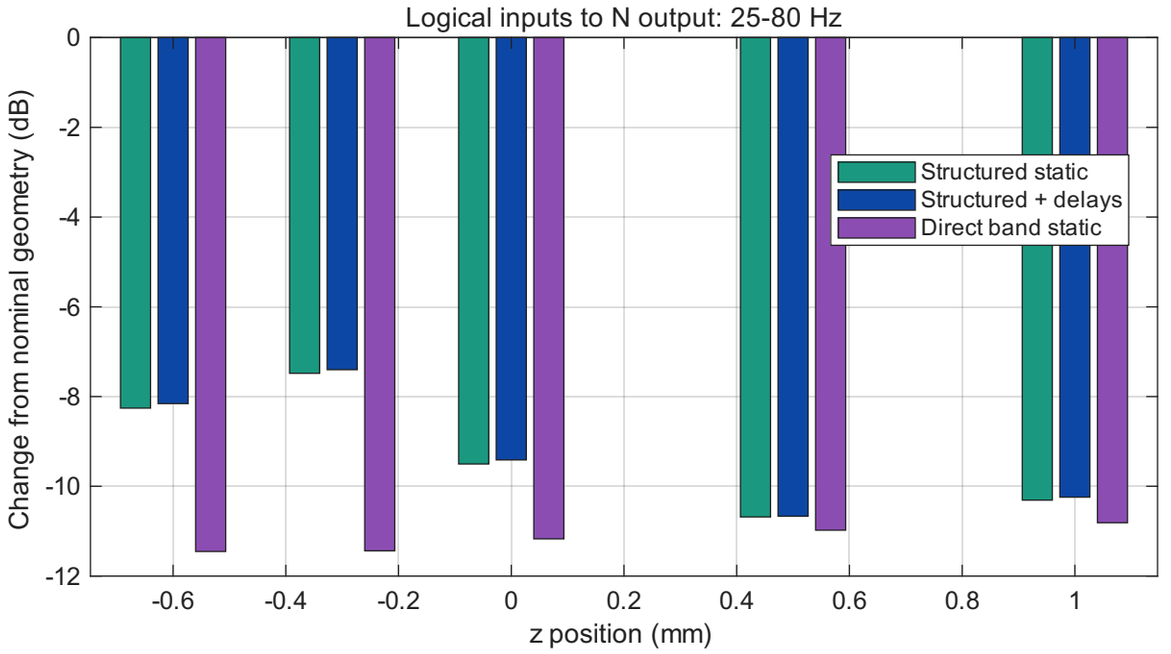
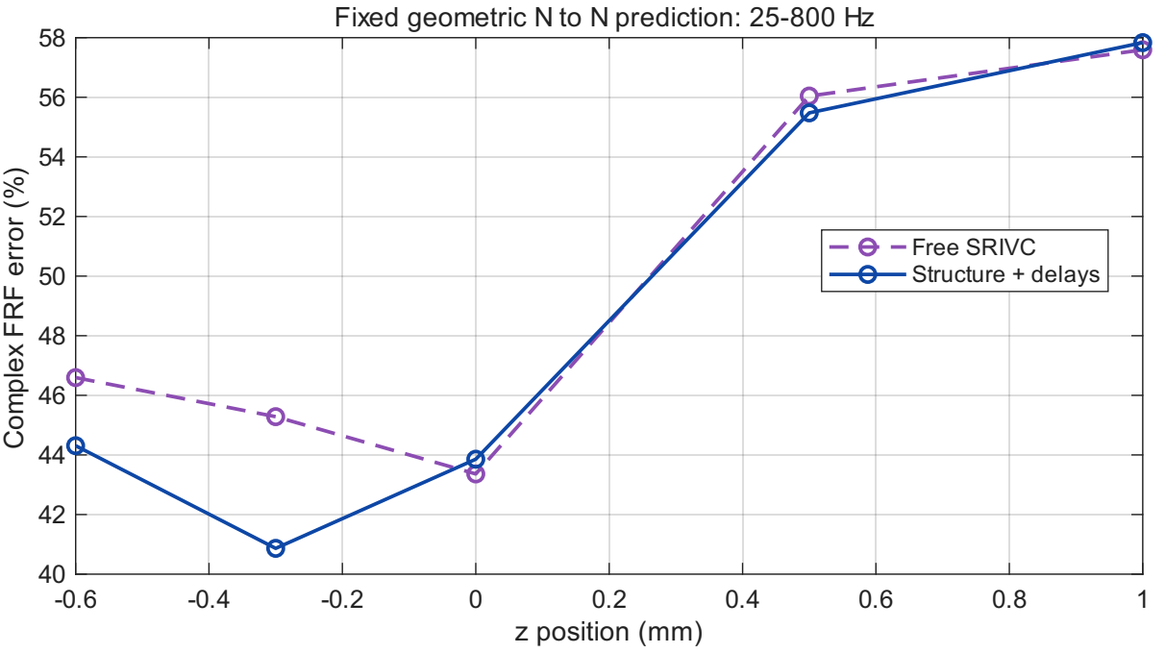
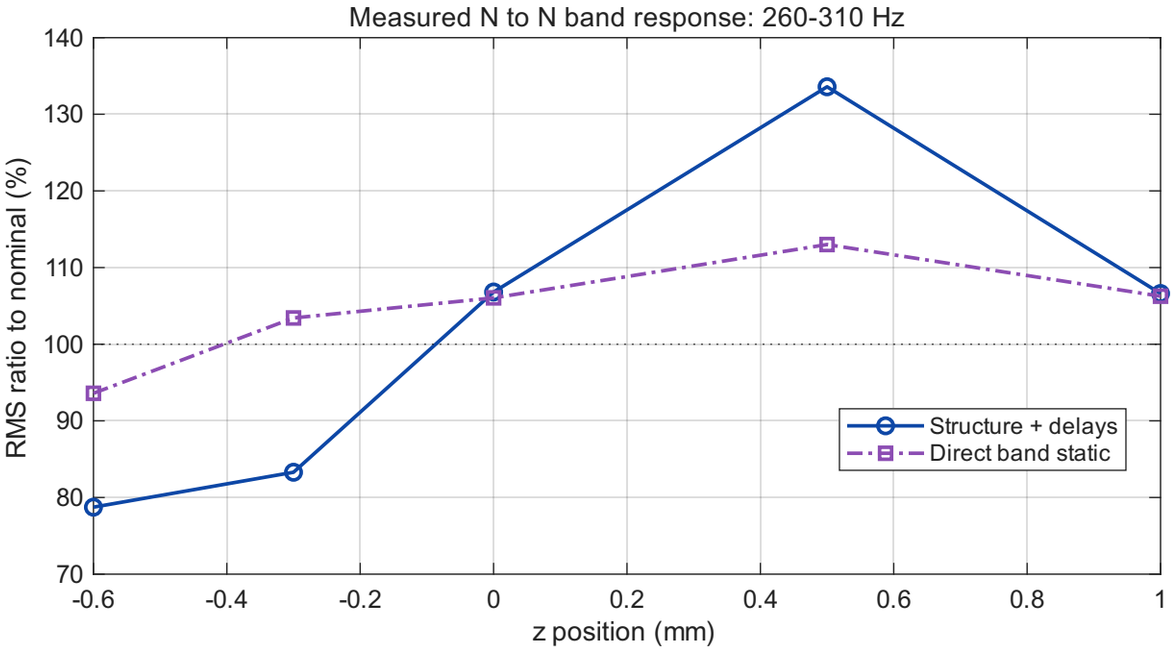
Five-position check on measured FRFs








Training-derived directions; same-record held-out development check, not a hardware decoupling test